

Sponsor Statement from Altria

Altria is proud to support the Smithsonian's Freer Gallery of Art and Arthur M. Sackler Gallery and serve as the lead sponsor for "Perspectives," the museums' series of contemporary art. The Freer and Sackler Galleries are best known for bringing Asian art to visitors while enhancing their view of world cultures. Altria values this partnership and is proud to support this exhibition.

Altria's support for the visual and performing arts stretches back more than 50 years. Today, we continue to champion arts and culture organizations that reflect the qualities we value in our businesses—creativity, diversity, excellence and innovation. Our support for arts and cultural initiatives in Richmond, V.A. and Washington, D.C. focuses on programs that increase community access to the arts.

Altria, a Fortune 200 company, includes some of the most enduring names in American business like Philip Morris USA, John Middleton, Nu Mark and Ste. Michelle Wine Estates.

Altria congratulates the Freer and Sackler Galleries in creating another unique and enriching experience for nearly 500,000 visitors every year.
